

you well know, and between the two bodies.

I think probably there is not much purpose in discussing this further, but we would hope that perhaps we could try to move those items on which we have agreement and continue to work on those that we do not forge agreement on. But we ought not to, in light of our disagreement on some things, damage those folks.

Lastly, let me make an observation. I agree with you, Mr. Leader, that those families, those 6.5 million families, would not want to see a tax increase next year after the election; but if you ask them whether they wanted a $300 to $600 credit between now and the next election or simply stay at the same rate ad infinitum, I have a feeling there is little doubt they would say, well, we will take the help for a year, even if you do not give it to us permanently.

Let us go on perhaps to the energy bill, Mr. Leader. You did not have that on your schedule. Obviously there was, as you know, a motion to instruct yesterday so that we could try to address the problem that all of us saw dramatically in the blackout that occurred on the 11th of August. Would the leader tell me what his perspective is on the energy bill?

Mr. DELAY. If the gentleman will yield further, the gentleman is very aware that, as he just stated, we just appointed conferees last night. They had their first conference this morning. They are working as hard as they can to get this bill out as soon as possible.

The gentleman knows that the Nation's energy crisis is not just about electricity. Gasoline prices are at an all-time high, natural gas prices are at an all-time high, natural gas supplies are at an all-time low. This is not the time to do piecemeal work or patchwork in putting together a bill. We need a comprehensive energy policy to meet the urgent needs across this country and across the spectrum of energy sources.

I might say that this House has tried for the last 3 years to pass a comprehensive energy package; and we are now only two votes away, a vote in the House and a vote in the Senate, to being able to put together a good package that we can send to the President, and I am hoping that work can be done expeditiously and we can see a bill in the next 2 to 3 weeks.

Mr. HOYER. I thank the leader for his observations on that.

Two additional questions. The next one would be the Medicare prescription drug bill. Obviously this is a very contentious piece of legislation, with different perspectives on how we can provide seniors in particular with relief on the prescription drug costs.

Can the gentleman tell us what you believe the status of that to be and when we might expect that bill, the conference report, on the floor of the House?

Mr. DELAY. If the gentleman will yield further, the gentleman knows, as we all do, that improving and strengthening Medicare is going to be one of the toughest conferences that we will face. There are a lot of issues, very complicated issues, that have to be dealt with.

□ 1430

The chairman of the conference, the gentleman from California (Mr. THOMAS), is working with all parties on the conference and it just takes a lot of time to work through these issues. We have already worked through some. I happen to serve on the conference. We have worked through some and progress is being made. But our Members need to stay focused. The Members of the other body need to stay focused in order for us to get this done before the end of this session. But as far as predicting when we will be able to do that, that would be very difficult for me to do. But I hope that everyone will work together and get something out before we adjourn for this session of the 108th Congress.

Mr. HOYER. I thank the gentleman for the information and the observation.

Let me close. We talked about Thursday, September 11, when we will come together, controversies that we have discussed. The significant differences we have discussed with respect to how to solve the problems that confront this country will I think be put aside by all of us on September 11 as we come together, as we did on that September 11 evening when we stood together, you and I, shoulder to shoulder, and we sang God Bless America. At a time of tragedy we came together with resolve and without partisanship, resolve to confront the terrorists that afflict this world, this global community, and to make our country safer and more secure.

Mr. Leader, on Thursday at what point in time do you expect us to end our session on Thursday and to participate in such both collective remembrances as we may have and individually to participate in remembrances?

I yield to my friend.

Mr. DELAY. I appreciate the gentleman's words and they are heartfelt and honest and straightforward, and I greatly appreciate those words.

I would like to give the gentleman a time, but there are two reasons; one is I am a little concerned at this moment that if I gave a projected time of being through on Thursday, Members would leave on Wednesday. We just saw what has happened to this House where some, almost 30 Members were not here to vote on the last pieces of legislation, of both parties. And it greatly concerns me that when we give notice that we might be leaving, Members take advantage of that and move on and leave the Chamber and are not here to vote like they should be. And so I do not know.

Secondly, I would hope, and we have been in touch with your offices, I would hope that we would continue to work today and through the weekend to put together the right kind of commemoration of the day so that we exhibit to the country that the people's House has great concerns about the events of 9/11 and the events that have followed 9/11 and we want to express the feelings and the emotions of the American people on this very important day.

Mr. HOYER. I thank the leader for his comments and I know that the gentlewoman from California's (Ms. PELOSI) office will cooperate fully in that objective, as will mine and others, and we look forward to participating in a very positive way but a very solemn and prayerful way as we remember that loss and the challenge that lies ahead.

ADJOURNMENT TO TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 2003

Mr. DELAY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that when the House adjourns today, it adjourn to meet at 12:30 p.m. on Tuesday, September 9, 2003, for morning hour debates.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. THORNBERRY). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas?

There was no objection.

DISPENSING WITH CALENDAR WEDNESDAY BUSINESS ON WEDNESDAY NEXT

Mr. DELAY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the business in order under the Calendar Wednesday rule be dispensed with on Wednesday next.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas?

There was no objection.

AMENDMENT PROCESS FOR CON- SIDERATION OF H.R. 2622, FAIR AND ACCURATE CREDIT TRANS- ACTIONS ACT OF 2003

(Mr. DREIER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. DREIER. Mr. Speaker, the Committee on Rules is planning to meet next week to grant a rule for the consideration of H.R. 2622, the Fair and Accurate Credit Transactions Act of 2003, which may require that amendments be printed in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD prior to their consideration on the floor.

The Committee on Financial Services ordered the bill reported on July 24 and filed its report with the House yesterday. Members should draft their amendments to the bill as reported by the Committee on Financial Services.

Members should also be noted to use the Office of Legislative Counsel to ensure that their amendments are drafted in the most appropriate form. Members are also advised to check with the Office of Parliamentarian to be sure that their amendments comply with the rules of the House.
